ThinkFlood's RedEye Controls Available Through New Brazilian Partner Munddo

Waltham, MA and São Paulo, BRAZIL – May 03, 2011 – ThinkFlood, maker of the award-winning RedEye control platform, today announced a distribution agreement with Munddo Comércio e Importação.

Munddo Comércio e Importação, supplies professional-grade multimedia management and home automation solutions to the Brazilian marketplace. Since 2009, Munddo has delivered award-winning brands such as Xtreamer, ASRock, DLNA-compatible media servers and now RedEye.

“Brazil’s thriving consumer electronics market has a rapidly increasing demand for high-end home control solutions like RedEye,” said Vinicius Bastos, CEO and Professional Engineer of Munddo Comércio e Importação. “We’re excited to bring RedEye controls to Brazil because they give us the flexibility to cater to customers seeking high-end control solution that is simple to use and install.”

ThinkFlood’s RedEye controls are a leading control platform that allows consumers to use their own smartphone, tablet or PC in a variety of home automation. The original RedEye, popular because of the simply-designed interface and growing list of features in its free iTunes application, launched in December 2009 and has sold tens of thousands of units globally. ThinkFlood recently debuted a second generation of control products, including a new home automation controller - RedEye Pro.

“It’s critical to partner with the right distributors,” said Adam Shapiro, Vice President of Operations for ThinkFlood. “Munddo is a great fit as they understand how to provide to Brazilian dealers and retailers the proper resources and technical support and an unrivaled level of customer service.”

RedEye controls, available in more than 60 countries worldwide, are now available in Brazil through Munddo Comércio e Importação.
